Managed Email Solution

SALES: 0870 901 0107

Easy to use and Scalable

WaveMail has been developed using a customised secure Linux platform to offer an affordable, enterprise grade email solution suitable for businesses of all sizes. The single server system is available for SOHO, SME or Enterprise levels, all of which are pre-installed and configured ready to connect to your network. Included on the device is an easy-to-use administration interface for managing your email requirements, including mailboxes, automated replies and mail redirection.

Security

Anti-Virus - WaveMail servers are protected by intelligent monitoring systems that are kept up-to-date with the latest anti-virus definitions that proactively scan email before it reaches a user's mailbox.

Anti-Spam - Considerably reduce the amount of unsolicited email your users receive with WaveFilter-mail multi-layered spam filtering system. Using real-time block lists and content scoring unwanted emails can be dealt with far more efficiently by either having them deleted or moved to a quarantine area for review.

Restricted Access - All WaveMail servers are individually configured by professionals for use only within your network environment. Using an integrated personal protection system ensures only valid users can send and receive emails through the device.

Flexibility

Redirection - Re-route emails to other email addresses through WaveMail's administration interface thus allowing you total control over where you receive your mail.

Alias Addresses - Collect and manage email on multiple different addresses through a single account using alias names.

'Out of Office' Response - Set WaveMail to automatically reply to the sender with an 'Out-of-Office' response when you are away.

Mailing Lists - Communicate information en mass through email by setting up mailing lists through WaveMail's interface.

Misdirected Mail - WaveMail ensures you don't miss anything by capturing all misdirected mail sent to your domain and redirecting it to an address of your choosing.

Management

WaveMail is a fully managed service that is remotely managed over a secure link by Waveworks' NOC centre. The health and integrity of the system is constantly monitored with the aid of security alerts to keep everything running smoothly.
